BOY IS FATALLY SHOT; RESCUER DROPS DEAD

Waxahachie, Feb. 4.—Ernest Ray, a farm hand about 17 years old, was fatally shot by Ervay Smith, a farmer, with whom he was working, early this morning. The boy died a few minutes later. The tragedy occurred about 12 miles south of Waxahachie. Five shots were fired at Ray, three of the bullets taking effect and passing through his body. After he fell Smith followed him up and struck him on the head a number of times with an ax.

Smith was arrested and placed in jail. The cause of the killing has not been learned. Ray's home was near Maypearl.

Henry Foster, an aged farmer, who lived near Smith's home, heard the shots and hurried to the rescue, only to fall dead from heart failure when a few yards from the scene.

GATHERING AT MUSKOGEE

OVER 2,000 DELEGATES ATTEND
GREAT AGRICULTURAL CON-FERENCE—ORGANIZATION PERFECTED.

Muskogee, Ok., Feb. 4.—They are here from every nook and corner in the state, from the Kansas line to the Red River, from Arkansas to the Panhandle, and under the county banners in Convention hall three thousand earnest, active business men, farmers, bankers, railroad men and the men of the professions are in session in the most important meeting ever held in the state of Oklahoma. Their slogan is, "Back to the Soil," and their desire as expressed in the able addresses is to develop the agricultural resources of this great state to its greatest possibilities and in the future let the towns and cities take care of themselves and put the efforts into building the growing acreage which has heretofore been put in the development of town sites and cities. Men from every county in the state are present and in point of attendance the meeting has exceeded the expectations of the most enthusiastic. Headed by Tom Hale and Editor Robbins, the McAlester bunch arrived on a special train about one hundred strong, with more than fifty additional delegates picked up at Crowder, Canadian, Eufaula and Checotah. Oklahoma City has forty-seven in its delegation and the Tulsa delegation seems to fill the hall. The railroads operating in eastern Oklahoma are represented by their strongest men who, sitting under the banners of the different systems, furnish much enthusiasm for the speakers.

When the meeting was called to order President Darby faced an audience estimated at two thousand and the afternoon crowd possibly exceeded three thousand.

This crowd and what they are doing and saying as the last touch of winter weather is followed by Oklahoma sunshine will be long remembered in connection with the opening of a new chapter in the development of the state, a chapter filled with cheery good humor, such common sense, such argument for practical co-operation between the people of the town and the people of the country, that the omen of an early and fruitful spring is repeated in the significance of the utterances of this conference in which the first expression is given to the state-wide hope for a better understanding among all the people of Oklahoma to the end that a more prosperous period may follow one which has been to some like a winter of discontent.

Prosperity for the farmer and everybody else in Oklahoma was the desire indicated in expressions from the various points of view. How this is to be brought about and the processes to be employed are indicated in the proceedings.

Following a conference on organization last night, leading spirits of the Agricultural Conference, enjoyed a social hour at the headquarters of the Commercial club in which all manifested that they were thoroughly in support with the occasion. The gratification over the successful initiation of the work found expression in mutual congratulations from representatives of different sections of the state and practical plans for carrying it into effect were formulated rapidly. One of the features of the night session of the convention was the ad-

What's in a Name? Sometimes a Fortune

We could print a full book of names which, linked with certain essentials, have made fortunes. The essentials are, first, an idea; second quality; third, nation-wide publicity.

You know what made Milwaukee famous. When you think of Minnesota you think of flour. The very mention of certain names makes you think of biscuits, breakfast foods, talcum powder, chocolate, soaps, and numerous other things.

Each name stands for a product of sterling worth and honest price.

The force which impresses these names upon your memory and makes the goodness and merit of these products known to you is ADVERTISING.

Read the advertisements in THE NEWS closely and constantly every day and you will always be familiar with the best things in life and the names of products that are really a guarantee of quality.

dress of T. P. Martin, Jr., of Oklahoma City, on the subject, "Livestock the Best Market For Feed Crops," and it was received with marked approval.

Not only did Mr. Martin give strong argument for saving the wastes of the farm by cattle raising but, incidentally, he boosted the home market of Oklahoma. He said that on last Friday the two packing houses in Oklahoma City paid out $90,000 for cattle and they gladly would have paid out five times that much had it been available. He regretted that it is necessary for packing houses in Oklahoma to send to northern states for material with which to run the gigantic plants. The hog, he said, is a mortgage lifter par excellence. Jonah embarked in the livestock business when he went into a whale, "but he came out all right," and in the opinion of Mr. Martin, the Oklahoma farmers will come out all right if they follow Jonah's example.

A resolution introduced by Tate Brady of Tulsa, which was unanimously adopted, called upon all of the states of the union and all of the nations of the earth to send exhibits to the Dry Farming congress which will be held in Tulsa next October. This resolution followed an address by John T. Burns, secretary of the Dry Farming congress, which was well received.

H. H. Bell of Muskogee, newly elected secretary of the association, and farm expert for the Barnes company gave one of the most interesting talks of the meeting. He deplored the fact that 80 percent of the farming land in eastern Oklahoma is cultivated by tenants, indicating that this land is owned almost exclusively by business men who live in the cities and towns.

The officers elected were: President J. F. Darby, Muskogee; secretary, H. H. Bell, Muskogee; treasurer, Tom Wall, Poteau, vice presidents, S. C. Avery, Tulsa, and Thomas Hale, McAlester. The night session was addressed by W. R. Hockaday, industrial agent of the Katy; Kirby Fitzpatrick of Oklahoma City, and others.

DO YOU WANT $5.00

You can have it if you furnish the Commercial Club a slogan for advertising purposes. We want the normal and city school pupils to get interested in this. Mail to secretary Commercial Club. The contest will be decided by the following committee: M. C. Grigsby, C. D. Tanner, U. G. Winn. The contest will close at 5 p. m., Feb. 10th.

QUIET AS A CHURCH YARD.

Hiram Percy Maxim, Jr., inventor of the famous silencer used on firearms, says that he is working on some devices by which the busiest cities may become silent as a churchyard.—McAlester News-Capital.

Well, who wants to live in a church yard, anyway? Just a little animation in ours, please.

WOULD IT?

McAlester Tribune, "If every cradle was rocked by a good mother, the world would be full of good men."

Well, now maybe so. However, our experience with the human race leads us to believe that most boys go to the dogs just because that way looks easier than the other. Home and proper environment may have a great bearing on the way a boy heads, but he himself is responsible for a lot of his own misfortunes.

THE CASE OF GEN. SICKLES.

The Confederate veterans do not seem to be falling over one another in their eagerness to contribute to the fund proposed by Mrs. Longstreet to make good the shortage of Gen. Sickles. Another case of a man reaping what he sowed. Sickles has been one of the most bitter traducers the South ever had, even declaring when he joined the Bull Moose party last year, that it was to be a party in which the rebels would have no place, a declaration which Roosevelt hastened to repudiate. The general has lost none of his bitterness against the South and although it might be a case of heaping coals of fire on his head if the Southerners came to his rescue and saved him from prison, it is a little too much to expect of human nature. The country is indeed reunited, but it never would have been if the sentiment of reconstruction days as exemplified by Gen. Sickles had prevailed between the two sections.

Bible Was Put Into Rhyme.

Versifications, not only of the Psalms but of the other books of the Bible, were numerous in the sixteenth century. One of the most prolific versifiers was William Hunnis, who, under such fanciful titles as "Seven Sobs of a Sorrowful Soul for Sin," "A Handful of Honeysuckles," "A Hivelful of Honey," etc., published a number of rhyming versions of Genesis and Job, which are now worth their weight in gold to the bibliomaniac.

CAUSE OF THE GRIPPE

How to Escape Its Dangerous After Effects

With so much gripe prevalent this winter a few words of advice regarding its cause and treatment will not be out of place.

Grippe is an infectious disease easily taken, when the system is in a tired or run-down condition.

The best means of prevention are to keep the blood in good healthy condition, and if the system gets into a weak, run-down condition, take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic.

A lady from Long Branch, N. J., says: "Grippe left me in a nervous, weakened, run-down condition. After taking three bottles of Vinol I am better and stronger than I have been for years, and I cheerfully recommend Vinol to all who have suffered from the gripe and need strength." (Name furnished on request.) We have never sold in our store such a valuable strength creator and health restorer for the convalescent, the weak and run-down as Vinol, and your money will be returned if it does not do all we claim for it. # KNUTE NELSON OF MINNESOTA

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota, one of the most picturesque figures in the United States senate and likewise one of the most influential of the Republican members of that body, will celebrate his seventieth birthday tomorrow. Senator Nelson, whose present term will expire next month, has just been re-elected by the Minnesota legislature for another term of six years. In the next congress he will rank among the veterans of the senate in point of service as well as age. Of the entire membership of the senate as it will be constituted after March 4, only two members, Lodge of Massachusetts and Perkins of California, will have seen longer service in the upper house than the senior senator from Minnesota. Both Senators Lodge and Perkins came to the senate in 1893, two years before Senator Nelson made his appearance.

The career of Senator Nelson is of much more than ordinary interest, and in several respects unique. The story of his life has many of the salient features of a romance, including the picturesque and unusual. Born on a little farm near the city of Bergen, in the southwestern part of Norway, he accompanied his widowed mother to America when six years old. The family was practically penniless and the early youth of the future senator was one of hardships and privations. Undoubtedly it was the remembrance of these early days that prompted Senator Nelson to come to the aid of Folke Brandt, the young Scandinavian whose pardon he was instrumental in securing and whom he has taken to Minnesota to begin life anew.

Chicago was Senator Nelson's first home in America. Here he aided in the support of the family by selling papers on the street. In 1850 the mother and son went to Walworth county, Wis., and located on an unproductive little sand farm. When he was 16 young Knute heard that at Albion Seminary, which was conducted by Seventh-Day Baptists, a boy could get an education without money. He at once set out on a tramp of sixteen miles to see about it. For two years he remained at the seminary, doing

Men Welcome Mother's Friend

A Duty that Every Man Ows to Those who Perpetuate the Race.

It is just as important that men should know of progressive methods in advance of motherhood. The suffering and distress incident to child-bearing can be easily avoided by having at hand a bottle of Mother's Friend.

This is a wonderful, penetrating, external application that relieves all tension upon the muscles and enables them to expand without the painful strains upon the ligaments. Thus there is avoided all those nervous spells; the tendency to nausea or morning sickness is counteracted, and a bright, sunny, happy disposition is preserved that reflects wonderfully upon the character and temperament of the little one soon to open its eyes in bewilderment at the joy of his arrival. You can obtain a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at any drug store at $1.00, and it will be the best dollar's worth you ever obtained. It preserves the mother's health, enables her to make a quick and complete recovery, and thus with renewed strength she will eagerly devote herself to the care and attention which mean so much to the welfare of the child. Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 123 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their valuable and instructive book of guidance for expectant mothers. Get a bottle of Mother's Friend to-day.

He is the author of the present bankruptcy law. He is the father of the Department of Commerce and Labor. It was at the instance of Senator Nelson that the Republican national convention in 1900 adopted a plank committing the party to the creation of such a department. He drew the bill under which the department was created.

While Senator Nelson is a bit old-fashioned, he is proud of it. He takes no part in Washington society, has no fondness for what is termed club life and probably has not seen the inside of a theatre half a dozen times in his life. He is a great student of history and his favorite recreation is to read about the great sea and land fighters of the past. Probably no man in public life today has a more intimate knowledge of the history of the American civil war than the Norwegian senator who carried a musket through three years of the great conflict.

chores for people in the vicinity to pay for his tuition and board. When the war broke out Senator Nelson, with twenty of his fellow students, enlisted. He served three years, was wounded, taken prisoner at Port Hudson, and came out a corporal. He then finished his seminary course, read law in Senator Vilas' office in Madison, was admitted to the bar, and elected to the Wisconsin legislature before he was 24 years old.

In 1870 he removed from Wisconsin to Minnesota. In his new home he speedily took an active interest in politics, serving four terms in the Minnesota legislature. After three terms in Congress he was elected governor of Minnesota in 1892 and served two terms. He was elected to the United States senate first in 1895, and has been three times re-elected.

While Senator Nelson has been generally classed as a regular Republican and usually votes with the majority of his party in the senate, he has shown great independence at times, especially on the tariff question. As a member of the lower house he voted for the Mills Democratic tariff bill. Two years ago he voted against Payne-Aldrich bill, a Republican measure. He voted for the La Follette bill at the special session last summer. A week or so later he opposed the conference report on that measure. In the same session he voted against the Democratic cotton revision bill.

During his long career in public life, Mr. Nelson has devoted his attention to a variety of questions and he has made his mark on the statute books.

Carnival Visitors Fill New Orleans

New Orleans, La., Feb. 5.—The eve of the Mardi Gras festivities finds the hotels and boarding houses of New Orleans filled with visitors from every part of the country. Although the opening of the carnival proper is still several days distant there are indications visible and abundant that the annual period of festivity is at hand. The entire downtown section of the city has put on gala attire and the streets are filled nightly with crowds of merry-makers bent on getting their fill of mirth and pleasure. Glancing on the streets, despite the fact that it is frowned upon on any day other than Mardi Gras itself, is adding to the gaiety.

The New Orleans Mardi Gras carnival is as old as the city itself. Long before the acquisition of Louisiana from the French the carnival fetes were famous. Since the transfer of Louisiana territory to the United States, in 1803, American customs and American methods gradually have supplanted the deeply-rooted French customs, until today the most exclusive of the old French families are as typically American as those whose ancestors came over in the Mayflower. Of all the old customs and traditions, the Mardi Gras pageants alone have successfully resisted the changes wrought by time. With very few innovations the festivities are repeated year after year in the same way they were conducted a century and more ago. As a matter of fact there has been little change in the form of the festivities since their origin in the sacrifice of the Lupercalia in Rome, centuries before the beginning of the Christian era.

The festivities get into swing some three weeks before the observance of Mardi Gras proper. The program is ushered in twelve nights after Christmas with the grand ball of the Twelfth Night Revelers. There are dozens of carnival organizations all of which give balls during the several weeks preceding the Mardi Gras. These balls provide for the masking of guests. The celebration is not confined to any one class of society.

The formal fetes open the Thursday before Mardi Gras with the pageant of the Myetic Krewe of Comus. In this and other of the carnival pageants the floats comprise a series of tableaux depicting scenes and incidents taken from some play, legend or literary classic.

Rex, the king of the carnival, is due to reach the city next Monday morning. He supposedly is arriving from Arabia and the royal yacht is met in the river below the city by hundreds of craft and given a noisy welcome. The feature of the initial days program is the landing of Rex and his royal retinue and their parade to the centre of the city, where the king of the carnival is formally presented with the keys of the city. During the several days and nights following there will be a succession of brilliant pageants and balls.

Owing to the fact that this picture wasn't advertised very long, our paper not coming out until late, we was unable to reach the people so we have engaged this wonderful picture for Thursday, February 6. Ask your friends that saw it last night about it. Now come out and bring the children and let them see Ringling Bros. ## A RABBIT CHASE ON STREETS OF ADA

Tuesday afternoon while chatting with J. W. Davis at the latter's mule barn and yard on east Main street, B. H. Frick spied a big jack rabbit loping down the side walk towards them. "One of your mules is out Mr. Davis," he called out.

"Well, well," remarked Mr. Davis, "that looks just like one of a pair I sold old man — last week, only he looks a little too big. Maybe he is one of P. A. Norris's bunch, so we had better corral him."

They opened the gate and headed Mr. Rabbit inside. Then with the assistance of two or three others who happened along they hemmed him in and brought him to town. About 4 o'clock they turned him loose up Main street with two or three dogs in pursuit. The rabbit was not accustomed to paved streets, and had it not been for a number of wagons under which he dodged, the race would have come to an abrupt end. Finally he rushed into the entry of Gubin & Barrack's store and was picked up by friendly hands. He was next carried to the vicinity of the city hall and turned loose up South Broadway with two dogs at his heels. They overtook him several times, but he managed to double about and keep out of reach of their jaws. When last seen, he was turning the corner of West 14th.

SUSPECTED BOOTLEGGERS MAKE QUICK MOVE

Today there was a sudden moving out of a house that doubtless heads the list for quickness of action. It had been reported to County Attorney Roland that a certain residence was being used as a joint, several cases of booze having been brought in during the day previous. He stationed himself at the window of a neighboring house and watched the maneuvers about the place until convinced that the suspicions of the neighbors were well founded. He returned to his office to prepare the necessary papers and within less than two hours from the time he left the place Deputy Attorney Croxton and Deputy Sheriffs Duncan and Chandler were on the scene. However, the birds had flown, for there was not even a rag about the place, to say nothing of furniture and booze.

SENATE ORGANIZES IMPEACHMENT COURT

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 5.—For the trials of State Auditor Leo Meyer and State Printer Giles W. Farris the Senate was organized into a court of impeachment, presided over by Chief Justice Samuel W. Hayes of the Supreme court, who administered a special oath to the members, as required by the constitution.

Prior to the organization President Pro Tem Kendrick, Senators Roddie, Barrett and Briggs, as a committee from the Senate to advise the house it was ready to formally receive the articles of impeachment and in due time the Board of Managers, composed of Representatives Wyand, Pinkham and McGuire, appeared before the senate and read the documents. The charges were received by the Senate as a legislative body which is the procedure followed in the impeachment of President Johnston, save in that case the formality was repeated before the senate sitting as a court of impeachment.

President Pro Tem Kendrick's announcement that charges would be heard also followed the Congressional form, in which he said:

"All persons are commanded to keep absolute silence under the pain of imprisonment while the honorable Board of Managers of the Honorable House of Representatives presents articles of impeachment to the Honorable Senate."

The form of oath administered by the Chief Justice is suggested in the article of the State Constitution, and was repeated as follows:

"Senators, you and each of you, do solemnly swear that in all matters pertaining to the impeachment of (names of accused repeated) to impartially try the impeached, and impartial justice do, according to the laws of the state."

The senate's committee on Rules met with the Chief Justice tonight and formulated rules to govern the hearings, which will be filed tomorrow. In the main they will follow the Congressional procedure. In the absence of rules today it was ordered by the impeachment court that all summons would be returnable to the senate within five days. It is the senate's intention to fix an early date for beginning the trials. Attorneys for the accused will be given permission to file such motions and answers as they desire and, it is understood tonight, that,

HOUSE HAS A BUSY DAY

Passes Bill Abolishing State Printer.
Drastic Prohibition Bill Passed.

Oklahoma City, Feb. 5.—Shorn of the emergency, but otherwise practically intact, one of the most drastic "prohibition" bills ever framed, passed the house of representatives Tuesday and is now ready for the senate. At the same time the house passed by unanimous vote the Pruett bill to abolish the state printing department, of which State Printer Giles W. Farris is head and against whom impeachment proceedings are now pending in the senate.

The "blue sky" bill, by Emanuel, Teehee, McCrory and Hill of Pittsburg, for the protection of Oklahoma investors in corporation stocks and stock company shares, framed upon the model of the famous Kansas blue sky law, was also among the round dozen of house bills passed finally Tuesday. Wright's bill to reduce the interest on paying taxes from 18 to 10 percent also passed.

The Sharp bill to abolish assistant county superintendents, which a conservative estimate shows will save the state $45,600 annually, also was passed finally.

All of the bills passed had been put to final roll call last week, and the house did not reverse itself upon any of the roll calls, Tuesday. The bill to abolish State Printer Farris' office was so unanimously approved by the house that it was not even put upon roll call, but, by unanimous consent, the roll call of $1 to nothing on the previous bill passed was applied.

The Mitchell-Franklin bill, which proposes to make it a felony to run a joint where intoxicants are sold, or to act as agent for a wholesale liquor house and take Oklahoma orders, or to sell liquors to minors, was passed by a vote of 77 to 7, and with very little final debate.

With the passage of the bill to abolish the state printer's department, the house of representatives so far has sent four "abolition" measures to the senate. The Sharp bill to abolish assistant county superintendents, the Childers bill to abolish the state highway department, and the Wright bill to abolish deputy constables being the other three. And unless the signs fail the house will pass the senate bill to abolish State Enforcement Officer W. J. Caudill's office by a large majority also. That bill reached the house Tuesday.

Other bills passed finally Tuesday are as follows:

By Reece, To provide for the payment of certain witness fees in felony cases.

By Wyand, A act defining trespass and providing penalties.

By Hill of Pittsburg, Relating to qualifications and justification of sureties on bail bonds.

By Pruett, To lower the percent of surety bonds of fiduciary officers over the liability from 100 to 25 percent.

By Williams of Tulsa, To provide for the appointment of trustees of estates of convicts.

Bonds of Rogers: To provide a procedure for the foreclosure of chattel mortgages.

Teehee and Senator Fields: To authorize title to tracts of land reserved from allotment of Indian lands for rural cemeteries to be made to the board of county commissioners for local cemetery purposes.

MRS. MCGILL BROKE DOWN

Gives the Real Facts in Regard to Her Case and Tells How She Suffered.

Jonesboro, Ark.—"I suffered a complete break down in health, some time ago," writes Mrs. A. McGill, from this place. "I was very weak and could not do any work. I tried different remedies, but they did me no good."

One day, I got a bottle of Cardui. It did me so much good, I was surprised, and took some more.

Before I took Cardui, I had headache and backache, and sometimes I would cry for hours. Now I am over all that, and can do all kinds of housework. I think it is the greatest medicine on earth."

In the past fifty years, thousands of ladies have written, like Mrs. McGill, to tell of the benefit received from Cardui.

Such testimony, from earnest women, surely indicates the great value of this tonic remedy, for diseases peculiar to women. Are you a sufferer? Yes?

Cardui is the medicine you need. We urge you to try it.

TEXAS WILL HAVE PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY

Austin, Tex., Feb. 4.—Messrs. Weimer, Real and Brelsford were appointed on part of the senate on the joint committee to investigate conditions at the state school for the training of juveniles at Gatesville, as provided for in a concurrent resolution adopted yesterday.

Mr. Townsend negotiated the final passage of the bill providing for the holding of Presidential primaries in this state. It was amended, but not materially. The bill provides that the presidential primary be held on the fourth Tuesday of May, when the people shall register their first and second choice for president; also to select delegates to the National convention and presidential electors. The returns of such election would be made to and canvassed by the State Executive Committee and there would be no state convention. Vigorous support was given the bill by Senators Townsend and Westbrook, who said they were tired of convention methods with politicians ruling and wanted the people to control their affairs which opportunity would be given in this bill. Mr. Vaughan reminded them that Democratic Chairman Williams had ruled last summer that there was no authority for the people having a primary election as to presidential choice, and also that the Woodrow Wilson League had offered to finance the expense of such election, but had been refused it.

ANOTHER BOUQUET FOR HON. JOHN P. CRAWFORD

Today's Oklahoman had a cut of Representative John P. Crawford, underneath which was the following laudatory paragraph:

"The photographer has done here what we have found it hard to do as a rule, to catch John P. Crawford looking a little serious. Probably it was because the gentleman from Pontotoc had stage fright, when the muzzle of the camera thrust itself toward him—as many other less modest men sometimes experience."

"As one of the leaders of the third legislature, as an active—you bet, active, we repeat—leader of the fourth legislature, and as presiding genius of that mysterious function, the democratic caucus of the house, Mr. Crawford always wears the same slightly don't-care-a-rap smile."

"An original Arkansawyer, Hon. John P. Crawford was born in Washington county, Ark., October 31, 1872; graduated from the Rogers (Ark.) academy in 1896 came to Oklahoma sixteen years ago, and has prospered since even as one loved of the Lord. He is a lawyer by profession, politician by instinct and, by unanimous vote, a genuine good fellow by disposition, despite all the weight of legislative cares. He lives at Ada and has farms all over the surrounding counties."

Beginning of Lent.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—Today, Ash Wednesday, marks the beginning of the Lenten season. The annual fast of forty days observed from very early times in the Christian church, in commemoration of Christ's forty days' fast, continues until Easter, for which feast the fast serves also as a season of special penitence and preparation.

Easter this year falls on March 23, which is the earliest date that it can possibly come in any year. The day is regulated by the Zodiac. Days and nights are of equal length on the 21st of March and the first Sunday after the first full moon, after the days and nights are equal is always Easter.

TWO WITNESSES WOULD NOT TALK

The grand jury is still hard at work and good results will probably follow its probe into all affairs needing investigation. Monday Robert Gladson, one of the witnesses refused to talk and was committed to jail until he changed his mind. Today F. H. Cooley, another witness, suffered a lapse of memory and was likewise committed. Judge McKeown remarked that unless they decided to talk they would probably lose a crop this year.
